CENTENNIAL COMMISSION, OTTAWA, CANADA

June, 1964.

THE HONOURABLE MAURICE LAMONTAGNE,
Secretary of State,
Ottawa, Ontario.

SIR:

In accordance with section 16 of the Centennial of Canadian Confederation Act, I have the honour to submit herewith the second annual report of the Centennial Commission, together with the balance sheet and statement of income and expenditure, as audited by the Auditor General of Canada, covering the fiscal year ended March 31, 1964.

Yours faithfully,

JOHN W. FISHER,
Commissioner.

LEGISLATION

The National Centennial Administration was established by an Act of the Parliament of Canada assented to on the 29th of September, 1961.

Act Amended

On the 21st day of December, 1963, Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, gave Her Royal assent to an Act to amend the National Centennial Act.

The purposes of these amendments were:

- (a) To change the short title of the Act from "National Centennial Act" to "Centennial of Canadian Confederation Act."
- (b) To change the name of the "National Centennial Administration" and the title of the "Deputy Commissioner" to "Centennial Commission" and "Associate Commissioner" respectively.
- (c) To increase the number of members of the Board of Directors from eight to twelve.
- (d) To remove the requirement of prior approval by the Governor in Council of the Commission's exercise of its power and to substitute therefore a requirement on the Commission to obtain the approval of the Governor in Council respecting any commitment by the Commission exceeding $25,000.

General

During the year under review, the main tasks undertaken by the Commission included the establishment of an administrative framework, selecting and hiring the necessary staff to carry out their responsibilities; the organization of two meetings of the National Conference on the Centennial of Confederation; negotiations with all ten provinces regarding the implementation of the Federal-Provincial Centennial Grants Programme, the Federal-Provincial Confederation Memorial Programme and the Federal-Provincial Youth Travel and Exchange Programme; the holding of two meetings of the continuing Federal-Provincial Centennial Committee; the planning of various programmes of national significance, including the Confederation train and caravans; the examination and appraisal of projects and proposals submitted to the Commission by various associations and individuals; the promotion of centennial activities through public appearances by the Commissioners and the senior staff of the Commission, together with the publication of articles and booklets and the utilization of all available publicity media.

The Commission also maintained liaison, through its senior staff, with the National Film Board, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, the Canadian Corporation for the 1967 World Exhibition, most of the Federal Government's departments and agencies as well as the provincial governments, the provincial centennial committees and a number of local centennial committees. It also worked in close cooperation with the Canadian Centenary Council whose purpose is to co-ordinate the efforts of private corporations, organizations and citizens in centennial planning.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

During the year under review, the Board of Directors of the Centennial Commission met four times in Ottawa and once in Quebec. It is the Board's responsibility to decide on the major policies of the Centennial Commission regarding its administration and programme, to enact by-laws governing the Commission's operations, to set objectives and to provide budgetary controls.

The amended Act provided for an increase in the membership of the Board from eight to twelve and appointments of four new directors were imminent at the close of the year. The members of the Board are appointed by the Governor in Council to hold office during pleasure. The Commissioner is chairman of the Board.

The members of the Board also assisted in the promotion of centennial celebrations in their respective areas and spheres of activities.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The executive committee is made up of the Commissioner, the Associate Commissioner and four members elected from the members of the Board of Directors. The authority of this committee derives from certain by-laws of the Commission. Six meetings were held during the year, all of them in Ottawa.

Pursuant to an amendment of the Act, increasing the membership of the Board of Directors, the number of elected members on the executive committee was augmented from four to five and the quorum was raised from three to four.

THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON THE CENTENNIAL OF CONFEDERATION

The Act provides that "there shall be a National Conference on the Centennial of Confederation consisting of the Minister and not more than sixty members, each of whom shall be appointed by the Minister, including at least two members from each of the ten provinces who shall be appointed by the Minister on the recommendation of the government of each of the provinces." (See list of members in Appendix 'A').

The objects of the Conference are to consider and discuss plans and programmes relating to the Centennial of Confederation in Canada. The Secretary of State is chairman of the Conference and the vice-chairman is the Honourable J. R. Nicholson, Postmaster General. All secretarial work for the Conference is done by the Centennial Commission. The secretary of the Commission also acts as secretary of the Conference.

During the year, the Conference met for two days in Ottawa, on October 15 and 16, and December 16 and 17. Observers were also invited to attend these meetings; they were representatives of the Canadian Centenary Council and of the younger generation of Canada. The Conference was asked, on both occasions, to examine and assess projects and proposals which had been submitted to the Commission and to advise the Commission and the Minister on the desirability of implementing those projects. The Conference members are also asked to contribute to the promotion of the Centennial in their respective regions. The Commission provides them with any information they need and publicizes their centennial activities.

Standing Committees

In order to distribute the work according to interests, three standing committees were established, namely: historical, cultural, and ceremonial. All the members of the Conference participate in the work of one or the other of these committees.

Advisory Sub-committees

Four advisory sub-committees were also set up, comprising a number of experts in various fields; they were convened for the first time in Ottawa, during the month of February, to discuss the following topics: visual arts, performing arts, exhibits and historical plans. The staff of the Centennial Commission was made responsible for assuming the secretarial work for these sub-committees.

THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE

The National Committee on the Centennial of Confederation is composed of two representatives of each of the provincial governments, under the chairmanship of the Federal Minister responsible for centennial affairs. (See list of members in Appendix B).

During the year under review, the National Committee met on October 14th, 1963, December 16th, 1963 and March 17th, 1964 to discuss details of the administration of the Centennial Grants Programme, the Confederation Memorial Programme and related matters concerning centennial celebrations throughout Canada. The secretariat for the National Committee was provided by the Special Projects Branch, and liaison with Provincial Ministers and appointed officials was maintained throughout the year by the Branch.

INTERDEPARTMENTAL COMMITTEE

An Interdepartmental Committee on 1967 Programme was formed in August 1963 and held four meetings. This Committee is composed of Deputy Ministers and Senior Officers of various government departments and is established to advise the Minister and the Commissioner of the Centennial Commission on:

- (i) co-ordination of programmes of departments and agencies of the Federal Government for the Centennial of Confederation, and
- (ii) proposed arrangements for meetings or other projects of non-government organizations to take place in 1967.

A circular letter was sent by the Centennial Commission to the Deputy Heads of seventy departments and agencies of the Federal Government seeking details concerning plans for the observance of the Centennial of Confederation in 1967. A full response was received by the Centennial Commission and approximately 32 departments and agencies indicated that they were contemplating a project specifically related to the Centennial.

The Centennial Commission was charged by the Interdepartmental Committee with analysing the proposed programmes with a view to recommending support by the Interdepartmental Committee of those programmes deemed appropriate. A Sub-committee on Conferences and Conventions was established to review applications to the Federal Government for subsidies for conferences and conventions proposed to be held in Canada in 1967.

The Special Projects Branch provided the Secretariat for the Interdepartmental Committee for 1967 Programme and had commenced serious analysis of the proposed government programmes by the end of the year.

Staff

During the period April 1st, 1963 to March 31st, 1964 the establishment of the Centennial Commission was set at 50. On March 31st, 1964, 43 of these positions were filled. In addition to continuing staff, 15 short-term contracts were let during the year to obtain the services of consultants and advisers hired to perform research work along specialized lines and submit reports to the Commission.

PLANNING BRANCH

Objects

One of the functions of the Centennial Commission is to plan and implement programmes and projects relating to the Centennial of Confederation in Canada. This responsibility is discharged by the Planning Branch which receives and examines the projects submitted to the Commission and initiates projects of national significance.

Youth Travel and Exchange Programme

In the first few months of 1964, the Commission made grants, totalling approximately $92,000, to the voluntary organizations listed below to expand and develop existing youth travel programmes. Approximately 2,000 students are expected to participate in this programme.

Canadian Council of Christians and Jews
Visites Interprovinciales
Canadian Science Fairs Council
National Indian Council
Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs
Girl Guides of Canada
Jeunesse Rurale Catholique
Student Christian Movement
United Nations Association in Canada
Guides Catholiques du Canada
Young Women's Christian Association
Joint Councils of the YMCA and YWCA
Young Christian Workers
National Council of Young Men's Christian Association of Canada
Canadian Committee of the World Assembly of Youth

The Commission also convened a federal-provincial conference of officials, attended by representatives of all ten provincial governments, (mostly departments of education) on March 18th, to discuss the feasibility of undertaking a pilot project during the months of July and August 1964, involving the selection of 936 young people from the secondary school system of the Provinces to visit in other parts of Canada. It was agreed that the Centennial Commission would pay basic travel expenses and share administrative costs with the provincial governments.

Confederation Train and Caravans

The Confederation train and caravans will be travelling across the country during the centennial year. Discussions were held with the railway companies, the trucking industry and various other organizations in order to establish the feasibility of such a project. The Canadian Government Exhibition Commission is the agent for the designing of the project. According to present plans a six-coach train and eight trailer-truck caravans, carrying exhibits of a historical and interesting nature, would be visiting all larger and fair sized localities of the country in an effort to bring the centennial to the people. The caravans were considered essential to cover the smaller municipalities and areas which cannot be reached by rail.

Re-enactment of Voyage of Fathers of Confederation

At the close of the year, the Commission was investigating the possibility of re-enacting the historic voyage of the Fathers of Confederation from Quebec City to Charlottetown, aboard the C.C.G.S. Ernest Lapointe, modified to represent the original vessel Queen Victoria.

Microfilming of Confederation Newspapers

Application by the Canadian Library Association regarding the microfilming of the Newspapers of the Confederation period was examined and approved. A $12,000 grant was extended to the above Association to enable them to proceed with the microfilming of Canadian newspapers for the period extending from 1862 to 1873, copies of which are becoming increasingly difficult to obtain.

Dictionary of Canadian Biography

The University of Toronto Press and Les Presses de l'Université Laval, publishers of the Dictionary of Canadian Biography (Dictionnaire biographique du Canada), have asked from the Centennial Commission a grant in the amount of $160,000 to assist them in publishing those volumes within the series covering the period 1851 to 1900.

Miscellaneous Projects

Each proposal related to the Centennial celebrations in 1967, whether originated by the Commission or submitted from other sources, is reviewed within the context of what that proposal or project will do to further the cause of national unity and stimulate pride in Canada and in her achievements.

In the assessment of miscellaneous projects submitted to the Commission, it is required that the proposal should serve the public interest, show clear evidence of not being restricted in scope to local or provincial areas and not represent a normal commercial undertaking. It is the Commission's policy that capital works or construction projects will be ineligible for Commission grants in the miscellaneous category.

PUBLIC RELATIONS AND INFORMATION BRANCH

Promotional Work

One of the main objects of the Centennial Commission being to promote the celebration of Confederation, the Public Relations and Information Branch was engaged extensively, during the year, in stimulating public interest from a large number of national organizations and associations. The services of the Branch are available to members of the National Conference on the Centennial who are called upon to address public gatherings.

The Branch is also responsible for organizing and preparing interviews on national and local radio and television networks as well as for organizing press conferences.

Fact sheets and press releases are also published in order to keep the public fully informed of the Commission's programmes and projects. At the end of the year, the Branch had plans for the publication of a centennial handbook and a monthly newsletter.

Other Responsibilities

The Public Relations and Information Branch keeps the Commission informed of projects being planned and undertaken across Canada to mark the Centennial of Confederation and replies to requests for information originating from governmental agencies and private organizations, associations or citizens.

Providing publicity for major events

A number of meetings of the National Conference, the National Committee, the Board of Directors and various sub-committees were held during the year and, on these and other occasions, the Branch provided the press, as well as radio and television networks, with releases and information.

Liaison with representatives of communications media and other agencies

The Public Relations and Information Branch maintains liaison with the corresponding services of the National Film Board and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and has frequent contacts with representatives of the national and local press, radio and television. A number of articles for private publications on various aspects of the centennial programme have also been written.

SPECIAL PROJECTS BRANCH

Centennial Grants Programme

The Centennial Commission concentrated much of its time and efforts in 1963-1964 to the development of an agreement, acceptable to the provinces, regarding the allocation of federal subsidies for local centennial projects of a lasting nature. The terms of this agreement were reviewed and agreed to at a meeting of the National Committee (the continuing Federal-Provincial Conference on the Centennial) on October 16th, 1963.

The agreement provides for payments from the Centennial of Confederation Fund in the amount of \$1 per capita of the population of Canada at June, 1963, towards the cost of centennial projects of a lasting nature throughout Canada. Under the agreement, initiating agencies are to make application to the provinces, and if the application is approved it is forwarded to the Centennial Commission. The Centennial Commission will pay up to $\frac{1}{2}$ of the cost of a centennial project; the province and the initiating agencies are responsible for ensuring the balance of the funds that are required to complete the projects.

In the agreement, initiating agency includes an incorporated city, metropolitan area, town, village, county, township, district, unorganized territory, rural municipality or other municipality or a group of municipalities or such other agency as the province may decide. "Project" means a centennial project of a lasting nature that is undertaken by an initiating agency and towards which the province is contributing to the cost and without limiting the generality of the foregoing includes:

- (i) the acquisition and construction of buildings, parks, and other capital works,
- (ii) the acquisition of buildings of historic or architectural merit and any furniture or furnishings therein,
- (iii) the restoration of buildings of historic or architectural merit,
- (iv) the writing and publishing of books,
- (v) the composition of musical works, and
- (vi) the creation and completion of paintings and sculpture and other works of art, but does not include any part of pageants or celebrations or administrative expenses of local committees.

Projects must be scheduled for completion before the end of the calendar year 1967 and must be identified during construction by an acceptable sign identifying it as a Centennial of Confederation Project. After construction, projects must be identified by a suitable marker of a permanent nature.

This Programme has become known as the Centennial Grants Programme and agreements were officially executed between the Centennial Commission and the provinces on the following dates:

NEWFOUNDLAND	—December 5, 1963.
PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND	—December 11, 1963.
NOVA SCOTIA	—December 31, 1963.
NEW BRUNSWICK	—November 7, 1963.
QUEBEC	—January 28, 1964.
ONTARIO	—November 25, 1963.
MANITOBA	—January 15, 1964.
SASKATCHEWAN	—February 6, 1964.
ALBERTA	—December 11, 1963.
BRITISH COLUMBIA	—December 4, 1963.

Negotiations between the Centennial Commission and the Yukon Territory and the Northwest Territories were undertaken and point to a successful conclusion which will allow many communities in the two territories to share in the Centennial of Confederation Funds, permitting lasting projects to be undertaken.

Applications under the Centennial Grants Programme were being received by some provinces towards the end of the fiscal year but none had come forward to the Centennial Commission. It is expected that some 1000 projects will be undertaken throughout Canada under this programme.

Confederation Memorial Programme

The Federal Government has offered to pay the provinces a grant of $2.5 million, or 50% of the cost, whichever is the lesser, towards the cost of Confederation Memorial Projects to be constructed preferably in the Provincial Capital and completed before the end of the year 1967. This programme has become known as the Confederation Memorial Programme.

This programme is an extension of the principle applying to the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Building in Charlottetown. The Centennial Commission is contributing a grant of $2.8 million dollars for this building which will open in May, 1964. A similar grant will be made to the Province of Quebec towards the cost of a Conservatory to be used as a music school and for performing arts. An architectural competition has been announced for this latter structure.

Negotiations have been undertaken with the Yukon Territory and the Northwest Territories to develop a programme which will provide Confederation Memorial structures similar in spirit but smaller in scale for the two territories.

The Centennial Grants Programme and the Confederation Memorial Programme constitute the total anticipated contribution of the Centennial Commission to capital projects outside the National Capital area.

TO: Centennial Commission
Secretary of State of Canada

I have examined the accounts and financial statement of the Centennial Commission (formerly the National Centennial Administration) for the year ended March 31, 1964. In compliance with the requirements of section 87 of the Financial Administration Act I report that, in my opinion:

- (a) proper books of account have been kept by the Commission;
- (b) the statement of expense of the Commission
 - (i) was prepared on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year and is in agreement with the books of account,
 - (ii) gives a true and fair view of the expense of the Commission for the year ended March 31, 1964; and
- (c) the transactions of the Commission which have come under my notice have been within the powers of the Commission under the Financial Administration Act and any other Act applicable to the Commission.

A. M. HENDERSON,
Auditor General of Canada.
